

LEGION OF SHADOWS

by Nox Arcana, Released in 2013

21 tracks with a total running time of 68 min.

After 10 years of creating some amazing tracks of atmospheric music, the kind that is welcomed in any dungeon or crypt, Nox Arcana has released their latest CD which is a tribute to their fans, entitled Legion of Shadows. Listening to a Nox Arcana CD is like slipping into an old coat or shirt, something so familiar, so comfortable, and relaxing at the same time. It immediately brings the listener to a place where darkness envelopes you, but while some would be scared, for people like us, it seems to calm you, creating a peacefulness amongst the sounds coming from your speakers. The echoing notes from the piano, the low chanting in the background, the wailing moans and screams, all come together to create another masterful piece of atmospheric splendor.

We've been a fan/follower of Nox Arcana from the very beginning and have enjoyed each and every one of their releases. And I think it is so cool that they have decided to pay tribute to their fans with their latest CD. They have once again filled a CD with over an hour's worth of music filled with quiet and peaceful sounds and melodies, that is just perfect for a quiet evening reading some "quant and curious volume of some forgotten lore", or even just as a background filler while you're working on something. In other words, buy this CD, listen to it's music, and join the Legion of Shadows. For as they say, we are many.
